

If your business consists mainly of settling remittance or payroll transactions for recipients, your revenue is basically coming from the processing of the actual transactions, possibly with some added revenue from real time FX conversion.

If you now decide to expand your business model to include the unique Bancore Prepaid Card Program Management platform, you are opening for a further revenue stream, but it doesn't have to stop there: you can also add the Bancore MarketPlace services and significantly increase your interaction with your customers/recipients.

The Bancore MarketPlace offers a broad range of relevant services for recipients in emerging markets, such as Prepaid Airtime, Utility Bill Payment, P2P transactions, access to the Bancore Switch, insurance, healthcare, and discounts at selected physical and online merchants.

All services are available via a simple API that you can integrate in your existing business model - or alternatively you make the MarketPlace services available to transaction recipients via Bancore's "Card Services" or your own "your brand" Prepaid Card Program Management consumer platform.

When we say "P2P", we are talking about a true P2P experience when consumers interact with the platform. They simply choose a phone number from their address book, input the amount and swipe the screen, and as the system automatically on-boards any new consumer, the sender does not need to worry whether the recipient already has an account.

Our 24/7/365 system surveillance and support team is standing by to ensure the smoothest and safest operation for all of our clients.

While the present set of available services represents true value for everybody, Bancore is dedicated to keep growing the available services as well as increase the number of markets we will support.
